

I would like to thank Governor Codey for his initiative to establish the "do not call service" in NJ, the way it is now. The number of soliciting calls have dropped enormously since we signed up for this service. Before, we were receiving tremendous amount of calls, even, "recorded messages", which luckily have stopped after we signed up to this service. I do not see the usefulness of keeping a do not call service if you would still receive soliciting calls, even though from companies you did business in the past. Because, if you were already satisfied from their service in the past, you would anyway call them and solicit their service once again when need arise. You shouldn't be bothered for a service you don't need at the moment. With modern telecommunications and availability of the information highway everywhere, i.e. yellow book, internet, etc., everyone should be capable to seek the best service they want, when and where they need it. Otherwise, since the Do Not Call service is voluntary by itself, they wouldn't have requested it from the first place, if they didn't need it. Thank you for the opportunity to provide my comments.
